DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 1-8 are allowed.
2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: the prior art, Mendenhall et al being one of the closest, teaches that data sets are transmitted without the color palette but also all of the data sets which include OSD display data, i.e. the pixel data; however, Mendenhall fails to disclose transmitting ID and display location information of an OSD object without transmitting any of the OSD display data as in the following combination of limitations:

an OSD display method, comprising, transmitting OSD display data to a display apparatus from an OSD source by giving each OSD display data a peculiar ID in at least more than one OSD object unit; storing received OSD display data in at least more than one OSD object unit in a memory in said display apparatus; transmitting ID and display location information of an OSD object, without transmitting any of the OSD display data, to said display apparatus from said OSD source; reading OSD object display data having a corresponding ID from said memory; and displaying the OSD object display data on a screen in response to the corresponding ID and the display location information of the OSD object, as in claim 1;

an OSD display apparatus, comprising: an OSD source remote controller for generating an OSD object display command on a screen; an OSD source for transmitting OSD display data by giving each OSD display data a peculiar ID in at least
